BREEDER OF GALLOWAY CATTLE.

THIS breed of cattle, according to the best information that we can obtain, originated in the lowlands of Scotland, in the southwestern part of what was known as the ancient province or kingdom of Galloway. They are hornless, and usually black; tough and hardy, and well-adapted to the localities where other breeds of cattle would not do well. It is said that by crossing them with short-horns splendid animals may be produced, which fatten with great rapidity, and with little cost, giving excellent beef at the age of two or three years. The Galloway steer won the first prize for all breeds at the Smithfield Christmas Show last year, beating short-horns, Herefords, and Devons.
