THE NEW HOTEL HOWALD

Hamilton's Famous Hostelry

There is, perhaps, no one man so generally known and so well liked for his many excellent qualities as Charles Howald, proprietor of Hotel Howald, Hamilton.

This now famous hostelry, which is located in the very heart of the business district of the busy little metropolis, Hamilton, has for years been renowned for the spirit of hospitality which permeates its life. It is the mecca for the traveling public, conservatively managed and modern in all its appointments.

No hotel in this section is better known for its fellowship and good cheer than Hotel Howald and it is now recognized as the finest hotel in a city the size of Hamilton, for hundreds of miles around.

Mr. Charles Howald, the proprietor, is one of the most congenial of men. He bears an enviable reputation as a man of affairs in this and neighboring communities and his chief aim in a business way is to cater to the wishes of the most desirable of the traveling public.

Mr. Howald was born in Batavia, Germany, October 16, 1862, and came to the United States with his parents, the family locating in Butler county, where with the respect of a large circle of friends the father and mother were laid to rest many years ago.

Mr. Charles Howald, the son, was one of a family of six, four sons and two daughters. He is in every way a self-made man; hustling, energetic and honest, and ranks as one of the leading business men of this community. He attended the public schools of Hamilton until he was 13 years old, when he began the struggle for a livelihood. For three years he was engaged in various lines of work in Cincinnati. Then, in 1878, he returned to Hamilton and did clerical work for six years.

But Charles Howald was ambitious and he wanted to rise above the ordinary things in life, so with what money he had saved he engaged in the hotel business, opening the well known former Hamilton House, which in its day was accounted a most popular hostelry and attracted much attention among the traveling public.

CHARLES HOWALD

On April 7, 1884, Mr. Howald, married Miss Phoebe C. Niederman, daughter of one of the most prominent settlers in Ross township, Butler county, and their married life has been a most interesting and happy one. A charming home and attractive family combining to make the lives of all members a delightful one.

On March 1, 1890, Hotel Howald was opened, but again on July 29, 1912, it was reopened to the public after many improvements had been made, another building added, and the hotel made as convenient and as comfortable as a modern hotel genius can make it.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Howald are a source of pride to their proud parents. The oldest child, formerly Miss Ora G. Howald, a graduate with honors of St. Xavier's Academy at Beatty, Penn., June 22, 1904, is now Mrs. Murray Urmston, and with her husband and two pretty young daughters, lives at their handsome home in Princeton, Ohio.

The second daughter, formerly Miss Marie Howald, is now the wife of Harry L. Sohngen, one of the prominent young business men of Hamilton. Mr. and Mrs. Sohngen, with their very attractive young son, Charles P. Sohngen and daughter Janet Marie, make their home in this city. Mrs. Harry L. Sohngen for several years attended school at Laselle, Mass., after a splendid course of study in the Hamilton High School.

The same happy spirit which dominated the home of the parents, reigns in the homes of their children.

Two other children complete the happy family, Carlisle L. Howald, a bright young son, 20 years of age and Katherine P. Howald, a pretty young daughter of 11 years.
