FAIRFIELD Flyer

Honda of Fairfield Unveils Newly Renovated Space

Honda of Fairfield recently celebrated the grand unveiling of its newly renovated dealership at 5467 Dixie Highway, marking its recognition as a Honda Powerhouse—the top tier in Honda’s five level dealership designations. The $1 million upgrade, which included modernized exterior and interior design, LED lighting, new HVAC systems, and accessible facilities, culminated in a ribbon cutting event attended by American Honda Motor Co. officials and featured a demo truck showcase. Owner Chris Hedrick, celebrating 20 years in business, emphasized the investment underscores Honda of Fairfield’s commitment to “selling the product and the customer service,” ensuring high-quality experiences for motorcycle and power equipment enthusiasts in Fairfield and across the Tri-State.

Rules for door-to-door salespeople in Fairfield

In Fairfield, door-to-door salespeople must have a valid ‘peddler’s permit’ – also known as a solicitor’s permit – to legally go door-to-door offering to sell goods or services. Solicitors are required at all times to display this permit which contains their photograph and their name. Solicitors may only conduct business from 9 AM to 7 PM Monday through Saturday; no solicitations are allowed on Sunday.

If a solicitor shows up at your home, you should first ask to see their peddler’s permit and identification before engaging. If they cannot produce the permit, you should end the conversation. If a solicitor does have a valid permit but you don’t wish to speak to him or her – simply say “no thanks – not interested” and end the conversation.

Note: You are never required to listen to any offers or contracts presented to you at your home, and the City of Fairfield does not endorse companies that go door to door. Also, be cautious about showing a solicitor any bills, such as utility bills or phone bills, or other documentation specific to your home.

Wawa ribbon cutting at new Tylersville Road location

WAWA LANDS IN FAIRFIELD

Wawa officially opened the doors of its first Fairfield location in late June, marking the company's second store in Ohio. The grand opening, at 3501 Tylersville Road, featured perks like free coffee and branded T shirts for early customers. A "Hoagies for Heroes" sandwich making face-off between City of Fairfield Fire and Police Departments also took place. Wawa plans to open an additional eight to ten stores statewide by year's end, with an ambitious plan to reach 60 Ohio stores in the next five to eight years. Additional Fairfield locations are in the works along Route 4 at Symmes Road and Mack Road.

Fairfield Gets Checked

LetsGetChecked, a global leader in at-home healthcare diagnostics, is opening a new laboratory and fulfillment facility at Fairfield Trade Center. The operation is expected to create 74 new full-time jobs and generate $4.6 million in annual payroll, supporting the company's growing U.S. operations. The Fairfield location will serve as a Midwest hub for test kit production, logistics, and lab services, enhancing access to convenient healthcare solutions across the region.

Meyer Tool Expands to Fairfield

Meyer Tool, a precision manufacturing company supporting the aerospace and power generation industries, is relocating its Maintenance, Repair, & Overhaul (MRO) division from Cincinnati's Camp Washington neighborhood to a 70,000 sq. ft. leased facility at 575 Quality Boulevard in Fairfield. This move doubles the MRO division's floor space and positions it closer to key clients, leveraging Fairfield's location within the aerospace corridor. The transition is set to begin this fall, with full operations anticipated by the end of the year. This expansion involves a $6.25 million investment, including approximately $1 million for building improvements and $5 million for new machinery. Initially, 35 employees will transfer from Cincinnati, and Meyer anticipates adding at least 15 more skilled jobs over the next three years.

Vebcom Expands Facilities and Services

Vebcom Healthcare Services, a provider of home care and adult day support for seniors and individuals with developmental disabilities, has moved from its Nilles Road site into a spacious new 7,000 sq. ft. facility at 7161 Dixie Highway. This expansion creates room for its adult day program, with separate spaces dedicated to senior programming and developmental support. The upgraded center features sensory and conference rooms, nursing stations, a kitchen, laundry, and dedicated staff areas for its now 30 member team. Vebcom continues to offer client offering transportation, health and wellness initiatives, educational workshops, and tailored care plans.

CLEANING YOUR VINYL SIDING

Vinyl siding is a common and practical choice for Fairfield homes, known for its durability and affordability. Keeping it clean is key to preserving its appeal, as neglect can lead to unsightly discoloration or staining. That greenish tint you see on siding usually points to one of two culprits: algae or mold. Algae and mold are not the same organisms and have different requirements for cleanup.

Algae is primarily a cosmetic nuisance. It thrives in shaded areas, often on the north side of a house, feeding on accumulated dirt or tree sap. The good news? Algae is easy to remove with a simple scrub and mild soap or a pressure washer. Just remember to call in a professional for multi-story homes or tricky spots.

Mold, on the other hand, is a more serious concern that often warrants professional attention for safety. On house exteriors, it's typically a sign of water problems, like faulty gutters or drainpipes.

The good news for Fairfield residents is that most siding discoloration is simply algae. By regularly cleaning your siding, you'll not only enhance your home's appearance but also contribute to maintaining property values in your community.

CommunityWatch FAIRFIELD

Help Us Protect Our City — Register with CommunityWatch Fairfield today!

The Fairfield Police Department invites residents and businesses to partner with us in protecting our city through the new CommunityWatch Fairfield camera registry program. If you own a security or doorbell camera — at your home, office, or storefront — you can play a vital role in helping solve crimes and keep our neighborhoods safe.

What is CommunityWatch?

It's a voluntary initiative that allows community members and businesses to register the location of their security or doorbell camera(s) with the Fairfield Police Department, essentially creating a public safety network across the city. This strengthens our neighborhoods by deterring crime, encouraging cooperation and coordination between the community and law enforcement, and supporting criminal apprehension.

Why register your camera?

Help Solve Crimes Faster

When time is critical, knowing where surveillance footage may exist helps investigators respond faster and smarter, accelerating the identification and prosecution of offenders.

Deter Criminal Activity

A strong partnership between the community and law enforcement sends a clear message to criminals: Our city stands together.

No Risk. All Reward.

Participation in the program is 100% voluntary and does not provide the Fairfield Police Department with live access to your system. You'll only be contacted if we believe you may have valuable evidence to share.

Who can join?

- Homeowners
- Renters
- Business Owners
- Property Managers

If you own or operate security cameras within the city limits, you can help make a difference.

Be a force for good!

Your camera could help catch a suspect, recover stolen property, or even save a life. Take an active role in the safety of your community.

Join the effort. Register today!

FAIRFIELD FIRE DEPARTMENT NEWS

FFD Earns National EMS Recognition

The Fairfield Fire Department recently received the American Heart Association's Mission: Lifeline® EMS Gold Achievement Award for our commitment to offering rapid and research-based care to people experiencing the most severe form of heart attacks and strokes- ultimately saving lives.

Mission: Lifeline EMS® recognition is the American Heart Association's program that recognizes prehospital emergency agencies for their quality of care for heart attack and stroke patients. The recognition program focuses on transforming the quality of medical care by connecting all heart attack and stroke-care components into a seamlessly integrated care system. The program also helps reduce barriers to prompt treatment — starting from when 911 is called, to EMS transport and continuing through hospital treatment and discharge.

The Fairfield Fire Department is honored to have received the Gold Achievement Award again this year - acknowledging our dedication to providing a high standard of medical care and emergency service to our community.

Well done to our highly-skilled and qualified EMS crews!

YOU can be a critical piece of the safety puzzle- by effectively rendering aid before emergency crews arrive. The FFD offers CPR and Automated External Defibrillator (AED) training for community groups and organizations throughout our community, and we are eager to help! If interested in learning CPR or how to properly use an AED, please email Deputy Chief Randy McCreddie at: rmccreadie@fairfield-city.org.

Staff Spotlight

Major congratulations are in order for FFD Lieutenant Jamie Viers who was recently honored with a Community Partner Award for his dedication and service to Mercy Hospital-Fairfield.

For decades, Lt. Viers has been an incredible FFD liaison to Mercy Hospital, regularly meeting with Mercy Health teams and personnel, providing trainings and working to enhance existing EMS systems to improve EMS response throughout the City. We are so proud of Lt. Viers and his pursuit of progress, with the goal of providing even better life-saving EMS service to the City of Fairfield.

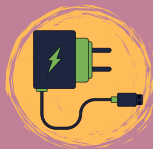

October 5th - 11th is Fire Prevention Week

“Charge into fire safety” by enhancing your knowledge and awareness about lithium-ion batteries being used in your home. Most electronic items in your home are powered by lithium-ion batteries, as they store a great deal of energy in a small space, however these batteries can overheat, start a fire, or explode if overcharged or are damaged. Do your part to help prevent a fire in your home by learning how to safely buy, charge, and recycle lithium-ion batteries.

When buying an item that uses a lithium-ion battery, look for a safety certification mark such as UL, ETL, or CSA. These indicators mean the item meets important safety standards.

Charge devices safely! It is important to always use the cables that came with the product to charge. When necessary, buy new chargers directly from the manufacturer or that has been approved by the manufacturer.

Recycle batteries responsibly. Do not throw lithium-ion batteries in the trash or regular recycling bins, as they could start a fire.

Fire Safety Resources

For more information about lithium-ion battery safety, fire safety, and even helpful resources for kids, scan the QR code to the right. Join us this Fire Prevention Week in keeping our community safe!

FROM THE DESK OF THE CHIEF

Across the firefighting profession, the importance of continually bolstering EMS response cannot be understated, and City of Fairfield is not immune to the increased need for emergency medical assistance. In fact, most emergency responses made by our department are to calls for medical assistance.

With emergency medical assistance runs topping 6,700 incidents in 2024, it is essential that the FFD make strategic decisions and implement plans to keep up with current and anticipated future demand for services. To help meet the need for increased emergency medical services, we are glad to announce that two additional FFD members completed their paramedic training this summer and are now utilizing those skills to support our community. The commitment to continue providing exceptional medical care to the City of Fairfield and surrounding communities has been built into the FFD's Strategic Plan, which outlines important steps to achieve this goal, including regularly reviewing and updating EMS procedures, and evaluating medical protocols to identify additional opportunities for enhanced patient care.

Because our department prioritizes the importance of top-notch emergency medical care, we are honored and so very proud to receive the 2025 American Heart Association's Mission: Lifeline® EMS Gold Achievement Award, recognizing our efforts to offer such quality care to those experiencing the most severe form of heart attacks and strokes. When every second counts during a medical emergency, the FFD has proven that our members are trained and prepared to render aid- ultimately saving lives.
