Invested in the City's water: Fairfield's Public Utilities Department

The Public Utilities Department has completed several projects over the past few months as part of its ongoing commitment to invest in the City's critical water infrastructure. The Department's primary goal is to provide the community with a reliable supply of drinking water which is imperative to public health and safety.

Winton Road water tower

Winton Road water storage tower sand-blasted and repainted

To protect water quality, water tanks and towers must be sand-blasted, primed and re-coated about every 20 years to eliminate rust and protect the steel structures. The Winton Road tower holds 1.5 million gallons of water, and it was just finished being sandblasted and repainted by City staff and contractors for a total project cost of $494,000. In 2016, the Mack Road water tower was rehabilitated. In 2020, the larger of the two Seward Road water towers is scheduled for rehabilitation.

Donald Drive water main replacement

Starting in June, City staff and contractors began to replace about 2,000 feet of deteriorating 1960's-era water pipe on Donald Drive. Also in June, work was completed on the replacement of over 3,000 feet of problematic 1950's-era pipe on Mack and Ross Roads. Later this fall, replacement will start of almost 4,500 feet of failing water pipe on Seward Road. Since 2017, the City has spent over $5 million to upgrade and replace old cast iron water mains to improve water service reliability, minimize main breaks, and improve fire flows.

Wellfield upgrades

For the past six months, City staff and contractors have been working to upgrade controllers and electrical systems associated with the City's four most critical raw water supply wells. Project cost will be around $300,000. The project will improve pumping efficiencies, upgrade communications, and enhance wellfield security.

Wastewater Division recognized statewide for safety

The City's Wastewater Division was one of only three municipal utility operations in the state to receive a safety award from the Ohio Water Environment Association (OWEA) at its annual conference in Huron in June.

Public Utilities Director Adam Sackenheim and Public Utilities Treatment Superintendent Jason Hunold accepted the award at the conference.

OWEA is a trade organization for state wastewater treatment agencies. The efforts of Fairfield's Public Utilities staff over the past few years to improve the safety culture within the Division, were recognized by the award.

City safety programs that have been updated and enhanced in recent years include confined space entry, electrical safety, trenching and excavation, and hot work (welding.)

Fairfield OH BUSINESS BOOSTER

Calvary Industries expanding again

Calvary Industries, Inc., a chemical compounding supplier and manufacturer headquartered in Fairfield, is adding 9,000 square feet to its existing manufacturing and warehouse facility located at 9233 Seward Road.

Total building investment for the addition will be approximately $600,000. This same facility underwent a 13,000 square foot addition in 2014.

Calvary will retain 65 employees and plans to add at least eight new employees after completion of the expansion.

"One of our personal care products is growing and expansion is needed to support the growth, both in research and development and in warehousing," said Controller Eric Meade.

Jungle Jim's: Snake House transforming into Oscar Station

Jungle Jim's International Market is adding event and festival space by revamping the "Snake House" along N. Gilmore Road into "Oscar Station."

Guests will be shuttled from the Oscar Event Center to Oscar Station and back via monorail trains.

Oscar Station will feature a 13,000 square foot indoor/outdoor concept. The building will include a bar, bathrooms and garage doors that open to a patio and fenced-in green space.

Phill Adams, Director of Development for Jungle Jim's said, "The flexibility of the space will allow us to do different things throughout the year. The Oscar Station will create new and exciting festivals."

Adams is hopeful the project will be completed by September. For more information on Jungle Jim's, visit www.junglejims.com.

Berd's Grill & Bar opens in Village Green

Historical marker at Miami Chapel Cemetery

The unveiling of the Ohio Historical Marker at Miami Chapel Cemetery on River Road at a special dedication ceremony in June was a proud day in the City of Fairfield.

The Fairfield Historical Society applied for the historical marker after the City revitalized the cemetery in 2017, and the marker was secured and installed this past spring.

The Society organized dedication in June with support from the City's Parks and Recreation Department. Several City historians participated.

"I consider this cemetery holy ground and we have a responsibility to preserve it and the history that comes with it," said Mayor Steve Miller.

The quarter-acre cemetery holds markers dating from centuries past. Joseph Catterlin, who is buried in the cemetery, was a Revolutionary War soldier. The cemetery is also the resting place of a War of 1812 soldier and four Civil War veterans.

The cemetery is located at 6210 River Road. Please take time to visit this important place in the history of Fairfield, and pay homage to the veterans and City forefathers who are buried there.

Think you don't need flood insurance?

The Federal Emergency Management Association (FEMA) says "think again!"

Flooding is the most common and costly natural disaster in the United States, and it often happens in areas with low and moderate flood risk. Insurance is an important part of recovering fully from a flood disaster.

Curious about the City's finances?

Two reports have recently been published by the Finance Department to share information with residents about the status of the City's finances.

The in-depth report is officially called the Comprehensive Annual Financial Report (CAFR), and the summary report is officially called the Popular Annual Financial Report (PAFR.)

Both documents are accessible on the City's website by clicking on the City Services tab on the front page, then Finance Department, then budgets and reports.

Clean recycling reduces costs, helps keep fees low for residents

Over the past five weeks, the recycling containers that Fairfield residents leave at the curb each week for Rumpke's drivers to empty have been the focus of intense inspection.

The inspection has been part of a recycling education project between Rumpke, the Butler County Solid Waste Management District, and a Virginia-based organization called the Recycling Partnership. The goal of the inspections has been to teach residents to put acceptable items out for recycling and thus clean up the contamination that often occurs.

The Recycling Partnership has conducted similar programs in other cities throughout the United States. The partnership hired inspectors to ride along each Rumpke route in Fairfield for five consecutive weeks and look through resident's recycling bins. If unacceptable items were in the carts or bins, they put messages on them, with the goal of having the unacceptable items removed when the next week's pickup came around.

Life-saving equipment made possible by Mercy Health Foundation

Thanks to a $20,000 donation from Mercy Health Foundation, the Fire Department will soon have two LUCAS devices to aid in administering Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) in particularly challenging situations.

The LUCAS is a high-quality chest compression system that can be life-saving when CPR is required under unusually difficult conditions and for extended periods of time. The Department will be purchasing one of the devices with funds provided by the City so that two will be available when needed.

"We sincerely appreciate the generosity of the Mercy Health Foundation in providing the Fire Department with the means to purchase this equipment," said Deputy Chief Tom Wagner.

Star of Life Award given to Fairfield first responders by state EMS agency

A cross-departmental team of City employees and a University of Cincinnati Air Care crew won an EMS Star of Life Award in Columbus during National Emergency Medical Services Week in May.

This team joined forces last fall to save the life of a man who had been electrocuted.

The award was bestowed by the Ohio Department of Public Safety's Division of Emergency Medical Services (EMS), the State Board of Emergency Medical, Fire, and Transportation Services (EMFTS) and the Ohio Chapter of the American College of Emergency Physicians (Ohio ACEP.)

Not pictured: Brent Gerrety and Kyle Schauer, Paramedics; Craig Moore, Police Officer; Michael Kaszky, UC Air Care Doctor.

On August 27, 2018, 65-year-old Stephen Tacy and his adult son were performing electrical work inside a local warehouse when Stephen's neck came in contact with a 440 volt live wire electrocuting him and causing him to lose consciousness. His son, Tyler, immediately called 911 and dispatcher Tracy Brown answered his call. Tyler explained that he could not feel a pulse and Tracy instructed him to administer "hands only" CPR. Tracy's supervisor, John Meyer was working the police side of the dispatch center that day and was instrumental in communicating with responding medical units.

Upon arrival, the City of Fairfield Fire Department arrived on scene and performed a rapid assessment of the patient while taking over CPR from the patient's son. The crew delivered a defibrillation shock, continued advanced life support, and requested Air Care transport. They also established an intraosseous line and administered fluids.

Chief Don Bennett and Officer Craig Moore worked in coordination with the Air Care crew to establish a safe landing zone. Air Care landed and performed rapid sequence intubation on the patient, placed him on a ventilator and started an IV. The patient was transported to the University of Cincinnati Medical Center, a level 1 trauma center for further treatment.

Stephen Tacy's condition improved rapidly at the hospital and he was discharged one week later.

This is a perfect example of how pre-arrival CPR instructions from dispatch, teamwork, and cooperation with local providers can deliver the vital care needed to make a life-saving difference.

The Public Works Department oversees many road and construction projects that have to happen when the weather is good.

Some of this summer's projects:

Bridge work on Resor Road near Point Pleasant Park included replacing the deteriorated concrete, steel, guard rail, fence and sidewalk. Similar repairs were made to the Resor Road bridge near South Trace Golf Course.

The first modern roundabout in the City was constructed at River and Gray Roads. This improvement is expected to calm traffic and prepare for increased vehicles as Marsh Park continues to develop into a regional destination.

Barrett Paving, a contractor for the City's annual summer paving program, began its work in June on Patterson Drive. Paving was completed in July.
